2007 Clos LaChance Pinot Noir, Biagini Vineyard

WHO: Clos LaChance

WHAT: Pinot noir

WHERE: Santa Cruz Mountains, California

WHEN: 2007

Pinot noir can be presented in a hundred different ways. In this case, small mountain vineyard, low yields, 45% new French oak, and wine bottled unfinned and unfiltered created a glass of silk, flavored with cherries, dried strawberries, cola, and a bit of suede. The wood has a complimentary effect, contributing to sweet tannins and just a touch, of vanilla. Drink with pork loin.
