

Palate Press

The online wine magazine

2008 Dragon's Bluff Pinot Noir, Volcanic Rock Select

WHO: White Rose Winery

WHAT: Pinot Noir

WHERE: Chehalem Mountain, Oregon

WHEN: 2008

It is almost Burgundian, rather like a light Pommard. Nose of earth, cedar, and lingonberry. Opens up on the palate with vibrant flavors of dark cherry. Finishes a tad short, but still a superior Pinot Noir—far, far better than a lot of the insipid wines touted as “good Pinot.” Great with lamb.
GT

<http://palatepress.com>