

Boxwood Estate 2011 Rosé

WHO: Boxwood Estate Winery
WHAT: Red blend
WHERE: Loudoun County, Virginia
WHEN: 2011

The 2011 vintage - the current release for most rosés - was rather cool in the Old Dominion state, so they got grapes with good acidity and not too much sugar. This rosé from Boxwood Estate winery is certainly showing a freshness and a balance that will do well on warm summer afternoons. With its delicious red berry flavors and lightly savory undertones, this expressive wine did wonders with a recent dinner of homemade pizzas eaten out on the deck. More please, especially at that great price. Highly recommended. RC

<http://palatepress.com>

Boxwood Estate 2011 Rosé

WHO: Boxwood Estate Winery
WHAT: Red blend
WHERE: Loudoun County, Virginia
WHEN: 2011

The 2011 vintage - the current release for most rosés - was rather cool in the Old Dominion state, so they got grapes with good acidity and not too much sugar. This rosé from Boxwood Estate winery is certainly showing a freshness and a balance that will do well on warm summer afternoons. With its delicious red berry flavors and lightly savory undertones, this expressive wine did wonders with a recent dinner of homemade pizzas eaten out on the deck. More please, especially at that great price. Highly recommended. RC

<http://palatepress.com>

Boxwood Estate 2011 Rosé

WHO: Boxwood Estate Winery
WHAT: Red blend
WHERE: Loudoun County, Virginia
WHEN: 2011

The 2011 vintage - the current release for most rosés - was rather cool in the Old Dominion state, so they got grapes with good acidity and not too much sugar. This rosé from Boxwood Estate winery is certainly showing a freshness and a balance that will do well on warm summer afternoons. With its delicious red berry flavors and lightly savory undertones, this expressive wine did wonders with a recent dinner of homemade pizzas eaten out on the deck. More please, especially at that great price. Highly recommended. RC

<http://palatepress.com>

Boxwood Estate 2011 Rosé

WHO: Boxwood Estate Winery
WHAT: Red blend
WHERE: Loudoun County, Virginia
WHEN: 2011

The 2011 vintage - the current release for most rosés - was rather cool in the Old Dominion state, so they got grapes with good acidity and not too much sugar. This rosé from Boxwood Estate winery is certainly showing a freshness and a balance that will do well on warm summer afternoons. With its delicious red berry flavors and lightly savory undertones, this expressive wine did wonders with a recent dinner of homemade pizzas eaten out on the deck. More please, especially at that great price. Highly recommended. RC

<http://palatepress.com>