

Palate Press

The online wine magazine

2007 Southern Right Pinotage

WHO: Southern Right

WHAT: Pinotage

WHERE: Walker Bay, South Africa

WHEN: 2007

The palate has plum, smoke, a surprising taste of apricot, but it is all wrapped in burnt rubber. The burnt rubber taste was overwhelming when it was opened, but moved more to the background after a couple of hours. Some mint started to peek through. Dusty tannins show up on the finish. Drink with well-sauced ribs and some coleslaw. DH

<http://palatepress.com>