

Palate Press

The online wine magazine

2006 Cá de Noci Vino di Tavola Sottobosco Frizzante

WHO: Cá de Noci

WHAT: Red blend

WHERE: Emilia-Romagna, Italy

WHEN: 2006

Probably unlike any wine you've ever had before, this is a bone-dry lightly sparkling red. The fruit is blackberry and mulberry, but without a hint of sweetness. More powerful overtones layered over the fruit are of chalk, tobacco, and ash. Big tannins and big acids are balanced. Though it sparkles, it is better at cellar temperature. Drink with a steak and some curious friends. DH

<http://palatepress.com>