

Palate Press

The online wine magazine

2008 Mandola Aglianico

WHO: Duchman Family Winery

WHAT: Aglianico

WHERE: Texas High Plains, TX

WHEN: 2008

The wine started with very brambly, jammy raspberry aromas up front accompanied by plum aromas and light, cocoa-like oak notes. In the mouth, cranberry flavors with a candied edge were the dominant flavor. A faint hint of rose petals was also detectable. Medium-bodied, with slightly dusty, but not bitter, fine grained tannin texture, good acids. The wine became a bit dry and a bit lean or thin-feeling towards the back. The finish was quite long, with berry flavors and some cranberry notes.
AZP

<http://palatepress.com>